boosts on first class letters and two-cent jumps for air mail.

President Johnson, meanwhile, renewed his plea for passage of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge "before it is too late."

During a White House ceremony at which he signed amendments to the Small Business Act, Johnson said the business community is imperiled by "the threat of tight money." He said most businessmen "would rather pay a little more in taxes than expose themselves to the uncertain and uneven effects of tight money and spiraling interest rates."

But House Republicans met and reaffirmed their opposition to the tax hike until there is solid evidence the President will cut spending by about $5 billion.

"We know the game the administration is playing," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference. "They are talking about things that have nothing to do with the budget deficit. The White House has fussed up this issue."

Laird apparently alluded to the administration's recent announcement of a freeze on military construction and its survey of the 50 governors to find what the effects would be if federal highway funds were frozen. Neither move would mean an actual reduction in spending in the current fiscal year, as demanded by the House.

The bill passed by the House would increase postal rates eventually by $890 million annually, but congressional delay in passing the measure has cut substantially the fiscal 1968 benefit.

If the Senate acts in time to get the bill to the President by Dec. 1, and he signs it, the first-class and air-mail raises would take effect in January, along with the third-class hikes and the first stage of second-class increases. This would mean an additional $435 million in the current fiscal year, well under the $628.8 million cost of the pay bill this year.

Postage stamps would go to six cents for first class letters and five cents for post cards, while air-mail rates would go to ten cents for letters and eight cents for post cards.

Second-class rates would go up 21 per cent over three years. But an amendment adopted Tuesday would add an extra surcharge to some 45 publications.

Testifies Klan Bragged of Slayings

By BILL NEKIRK
Associated Press Writer
MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department has summoned more Ku Klux Klansmen to testify in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers, described by a Meridian police sergeant as part of a Klan "elimination" lot.

The policeman, testifies Wednesday before a U.S. District Court jury along with FBI agents and physicians.

The sergeant, Carlton Wallace Miller, 43, told the packed courtroom Wednesday the slayings were part of a Klan "elimination" plot approved by the imperial wizard of the militant White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Miller, a former Klan member, testified he received $2,400 over a two-year period from the FBI to provide information on the slayings.

The bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, were found buried in an earthen dam on Aug. 4, 1964 after 44 days of intensive searching.

Additional testimony is expected from James Edward Jordan who was whisked into the Courthouse Wednesday surrounded by armed guards. Jordan is under indictment in the case, but jurisdiction has been transferred to a federal court district in Georgia.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Doar, the Justice Department's chief civil rights trouble shooter, personally handled the examination of Miller as the stocky policeman told his story calmly.

Miller said he joined the Klan when Edgar Ray "Preacher" Killen, one of the defendants, approached him in late March or early April of 1964.

The target of the Klan group was Schwerner, a bearded civil rights organizer who had been active in the Neshoba County area, Miller said.

He said some of the members wanted to "whip" Schwerner.

At one Klan meeting, Miller said, "Mr. Killen said to leave him (Schwerner) alone—that another klavern had been given approval for his elimination."

When asked by Doar who authorized the "elimination," Miller replied, "his elimination had been approved by the imperial wizard."

Miller said he understood that at the time, Sam Holloway Bowers Jr. was the imperial wizard of the Klan group. Bowers is among the 18 defendants.

At a meeting with Killen at Miller's home, on June 28, a week after the workers were slain, Miller said Killen told him the trio had been shot and had been buried in an earthen dam.

Miller said he was told the civil rights workers "were chased down Highway 19 about 100 miles per hour" on the night of June 21.

Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney were arrested on a speeding charge at Philadelphia, Miss., after they returned from a Negro community where they had inspected a burned church.

They were released late that night.

Asked if he was told about the church burning, Miller said Killen told him, "They burned the church to get the civil rights workers up there. At the time, they were referring to Schwerner."

ABC Cancels Beer Permit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has canceled a retail beer permit issued to Jack Baumgarden of Hot Springs because he has turned over the operation of his cafe to a man previously refused a beer permit by the ABC, Director Alvin Bell said Wednesday.

Bell said the ABC also had received numerous complaints about the cafe, which is located on U.S. 270, just west of Hot Springs.

He said it was being operated now by C. L. Harmon of Hot Springs, who was refused a permit when he attempted to buy the establishment from Baumgarden.

Says Italian Discovered America

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno says he has new evidence that it was the Italians, not the Vikings, who discovered America.

"I have traveled up and down the Atlantic seaboard and never did I find any evidence of smorgasbords being established here until the latter half of the 19th century," he said Wednesday on the eve of Columbus Day in a humor-filled talk.

"On the other hand I found from Caribbean shores to Newfoundland coasts overwhelming evidence of the ruins of pizza foundries which go back to the latter half of the 15th century."

Musmanno, who rarely misses a chance to praise Columbus said, "I always worship at the shrine of truth and fairness. If I had found any evidence that the Vikings got here before Columbus, I would admit it."

"It has been asserted that Lelf Ericson discovered America," Musmanno said, "but in the whole book of authentic history there is not one left to establish that Ericson ever caught a glimpse of American shores."

"In fact, I know that Ericson never got here because I got it straight from the Norse's mouth."

A final proof that it was Columbus, Musmanno said, is the national popularity of spaghetti.

"This selection could never have been the result of whim or arbitrariness," he said. "The spaghetti represents the rigging of the ships of the 'Santa Maria,' the 'Nina' and the 'Pinta.'"

"The meatballs are symbols of the anchors of those ships because the original anchors were spheroids so they could be used as cannon balls when it became necessary to fight the Vikings who, after all, were pirates!"

Finished, the customer leaves. Used to people would drop by the barber shop just for a chat if nothing else.

But a man at Conway has gone even further than that. He drove several hundred miles to a little town in Central Texas where a person can get a haircut for 50 cents. Of course, that wasn't the only reason he went. He visited relatives, too.

But it was surprising to hear that there is a place that only charges 50 cents for a haircut.

Mr. and Mrs. Woody Burney went to Evans, Tex., a town of about 500 persons that isn't even incorporated. While there, Burney said he dropped by Truett Thompson's Barber Shop and sure enough his price for a haircut hadn't changed. Just for a trim around the areas, the price

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Mayor Norma Walker of Aurora, Colo., didn't show up Wednesday to make her scheduled address before a conference on traffic accident prevention here. She was involved in a traffic accident on the way.

It was only a quarter, Burney, 63, pointed out that it was Truett's father, Ned, who gave him his first haircut when he was five years old. The price was pretty good for that haircut, too, Burney said, because he paid for it with turnip greens. Even though the price was enticing for Burney, he didn't get a haircut. He said the reason is that his wife cuts his hair now, and it's free.

Boasts on first class letters and two-cent jumps for air mail.

President Johnson, meanwhile, renewed his plea for passage of his 10 per cent income tax surcharge "before it is too late."

During a White House ceremony at which he signed amendments to the Small Business Act, Johnson said the business community is imperiled by "the threat of tight money." He said most businessmen "would rather pay a little more in taxes than expose themselves to the uncertain and uneven effects of tight money and spiraling interest rates."

But House Republicans met and reaffirmed their opposition to the tax hike until there is solid evidence the President will cut spending by about $5 billion.

"We know the game the administration is playing," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference. "They are talking about things that have nothing to do with the budget deficit. The White House has fudged up this issue."

Laird apparently alluded to the administration's recent announcement of a freeze on military construction and its survey of the 50 governors to find what the effects would be if federal highway funds were frozen. Neither move would mean an actual reduction in spending in the current fiscal year, as demanded by the House.

The bill passed by the House would increase postal rates eventually by $890 million annually, but congressional delay in passing the measure has cut substantially the fiscal 1968 benefit.

If the Senate acts in time to get the bill to the President by Dec. 1, and he signs it, the first-class and air-mail raises would take effect in January, along with the third-class hikes and the first stage of second-class increases. This would mean an additional $435 million in the current fiscal year, well under the $628.8 million cost of the pay bill this year.

Postage stamps would go to six cents for first class letters and five cents for post cards, while air-mail rates would go to ten cents for letters and eight cents for post cards.

Second-class rates would go up 21 per cent over three years. But an amendment adopted Tuesday would add an extra surcharge to some 45 publications.

Testifies Klan Bragged of Slayings

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — The Justice Department has summoned more Ku Klux Klansmen to testify in the 1964 slaying of three civil rights workers, described by a Meridian police sergeant as part of a Klan "elimination" lot.

The policeman, testified Wednesday before a U.S. District Court jury along with FBI agents and physicians.

The sergeant, Carlton Wallace Miller, 43, told the packed courtroom Wednesday the slayings were part of a Klan "elimination" plot approved by the Imperial Wizard of the militant White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Miller, a former Klan member, testified he received $2,400 over a two-year period from the FBI to provide information on the slayings.

The bodies of Michael Schwerner, 24, and Andrew Goodman, 20, both of New York, and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, were found buried in an earthen dam on Aug. 4, 1964 after 44 days of intensive searching.

Additional testimony is expected from James Edward Jordan who was whisked into the Courthouse Wednesday surrounded by armed guards. Jordan is under indictment in the case, but jurisdiction has been transferred to a federal court district in Georgia.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Doar, the Justice Department's chief civil rights trouble shooter, personally handled the examination of Miller as the stocky policeman told his story calmly.

Miller said he joined the Klan when Edgar Ray "Preacher" Killen, one of the defendants, approached him in late March or early April of 1964.

The target of the Klan group was Schwerner, a bearded civil rights organizer who had been active in the Neshoba County area, Miller said.

He said some of the members wanted to "whip" Schwerner. At one Klan meeting, Miller said, "Mr. Killen said to leave him (Schwerner) alone—that another klavern had been given approval for his elimination."

When asked by Doar who authorized the "elimination," Miller replied, "his elimination had been approved by the Imperial Wizard."

Miller said he understood that at the time, Sam Holloway Bowers Jr. was the Imperial Wizard of the Klan group. Bowers is among the 18 defendants.

At a meeting with Killen at Miller's home, on June 28, a week after the workers were slain, Miller said Killen told him the trio had been shot and had been buried in an earthen dam.

Miller said he was told the civil rights workers "were chased down Highway 19 about 100 miles per hour" on the night of June 21.

Schwerner, Goodman and Chaney were arrested on a speeding charge at Philadelphia, Miss., after they returned from a Negro community where they had inspected a burned church.

They were released late that night.

Asked if he was told about the church burning, Miller said Killen told him, "They burned the church to get the civil rights worker up there. At the time, they were referring to Schwerner."

ABC Cancels Beer Permit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has canceled a retail beer permit issued to Jack D. Ungard of Hot Springs because he has turned over the operation of his cafe to a man previously refused a beer permit by the ABC, Director Alvin Bell said Wednesday.

Bell said the ABC also had received numerous complaints about the cafe, which is located on U.S. 270, just west of Hot Springs.

He said it was being operated now by C. L. Harmon of Hot Springs, who was refused a permit when he attempted to buy the establishment from Baumgardner.

Says Italian Discovered America

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pennsylvania Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno says he has new evidence that it was the Italians, not the Vikings, who discovered America.

"I have traveled up and down the Atlantic seaboard and never did I find any evidence of smog-gasbords being established here until the latter half of the 19th century," he said Wednesday on the eve of Columbus Day in a humor-filled talk.

"On the other hand I found from Caribbean shores to Newfoundland coasts overwhelming evidence of the ruins of pizza foundries which go back to the latter half of the 15th century."

Musmanno, who rarely misses a chance to praise Columbus said, "I always worship at the shrine of truth and fairness. If I had found any evidence that the Vikings got here before Columbus, I would admit it."

"It has been asserted that Lefi Ericson discovered America," Musmanno said, "but in the whole book of authentic history there is not one left to establish that Ericson ever caught a glimpse of American shores."

"In fact, I know that Ericson never got here because I got it straight from the Norse's mouth."

A final proof that it was Columbus, Musmanno said, is the national popularity of spaghetti.

"This selection could have been the result of whim or arbitrariness," he said. "The spaghetti represents the rigging of the ships of the 'Santa Maria,' the 'Nina' and the 'Pinta.'"

"The meatballs are symbols of the anchors of those ships because the original anchors were spheroids so they could be used as cannon balls when it became necessary to fight the Vikings who, after all, were pirates!"

Mrs. Low started the first troop of American Girl Scouts in 1912.

Life In Arkansas

Remember when a haircut was 15 cents and a shave 10 cents? Maybe that's going back a little too far for most, but surely the 50-cent ones and the 25-cent shaves can be recalled. That, too, seems long ago.

Today the going price for getting those curly locks trimmed ranges from $1.25 to $2.50 in Arkansas. Maybe that's the reason you hear so many people wishing for a return to the good old days. No so much because of the lesser price, but because it seemed like less of a business deal to get a haircut in those days that it does today.

The barber shop once was a place of leisure, a place to "chew the cud" with a neighbor or talk about fishing down on the big lake with all the "pros" waiting for the barber chair. Now, however, you scarcely are able to get halfway through a magazine article before its your turn. After the barber is finished, the customer leaves. Used to people would drop by the barber shop just for a chat if nothing else.

But a man at Conway has gone even further than that. He drove several hundred miles to a little town in Central Texas where a person can get a haircut for 50 cents. Of course, that wasn't the only reason he went. He visited relatives, too.

But it was surprising to hear that there is a place that only charges 50 cents for a haircut.

Mr. and Mrs. Woody Burney went to Eant, Tex., a town of about 500 persons that isn't even incorporated. While there, Burney said he dropped by Truett Thompson's Barber Shop and sure enough his price for a haircut hadn't changed. Just for a trim around the areas, the price

Didn't Show Up for Address

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Mayor Norma Walker of Aurora, Colo., didn't show up Wednesday to make her scheduled address before a conference on traffic accident prevention here. She was involved in a traffic accident on the way.

Is only a quarter.

Burney, 63, pointed out that it was Truett's father, Ned, who gave him his first haircut when he was five years old. The price was pretty good for that haircut, too, Burney said, because he paid for it with turnip greens.

Even though the price was enticing for Burney, he didn't get a haircut. He said the reason is that his wife cuts his hair now, and it's free.

Coming, Going

Ann Arnold, U of A Medical School, and Gail Bigge, also of Little Rock, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arnold.

Mrs. Charles Reed, Ft. Worth, Al Weisenberger, Dallas, and Royce Weisenberger, Jr., Texarkana, have all returned to their homes after being here with their mother, Mrs. Royce Weisenberger, who is hospitalized in Hope, and with Mr. Weisenberger.

Mrs. Leonard Daniel, Mrs. Jamie Duncan, and Mrs. Opal DePree, all of Mt. Pleasant, Tex., visited their sister, Mrs. Theo Bonds, two days last week.

At Fayetteville for the U of A game last Saturday were Mrs.

George Frazier, Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr., Mrs. E. F. Young, Jr., Mrs. Mike Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Hinton Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Ina Coop, Dolores McBride, Vera Lora Bright, Mr. and Mrs. John Treat and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franks and Betsy, and Li and Mrs. Ronnie Formby.

Li and Mrs. Ronnie Formby and Deanna returned to Ft. Rock, Ala., Wednesday after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Gary Formby at Patmos, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franks in Hope, and Peggy Franks at the U of A.

Reds to Try to Climax Turnabout

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Did Red Schoendienst go too far with Dick Hughes? Should Lou Brock have played Joe Foy's drive safely instead of trying to make a leaping catch? What happened to Dal Maxvill on George Scott's ground ball single?

The sixth game of the World Series Wednesday at Fenway Park in which the Boston Red Sox squared matters at 3-3 by winning an 8-4 slugfest left a few questions to be answered.

Needing only one more win to close out the Series, the Cardinals manager left starter Hughes in the box until a record-tying fourth home runs were hit off him in 3 2-3 innings.

With a bullpen loaded with rested pitchers, there were some who second guessed the Card manager for not giving Hughes a quicker hook in the fourth inning.

Rico Petrocelli had homered off Hughes in the second inning, a drive into the screen atop the left field "Green Monster" wall, barely fair at the 315-foot mark.

After a Cardinal rally, composed of Julian Javier's double, Brock's single and stolen base and Curt Flood's single had put the Cards ahead, 2-1, in the third, the Red Sox really bombed Hughes in the fourth.

Carl Yastrzemski led off with a 360-foot smash into the screen in left center. After Hughes got two out, Reggie Smith slashed a homer into the right field stands. Then Petrocelli did it again, this time a duplicate of Yastrzemski's, to left center.

The 2-1 lead had become a 4-2 deficit before Red called in Ron Willis to get the third out. Red said later, "I can't understand how they ripped Hughes like they did. He was getting the ball up, not down."

After Brock's tremendous 440-foot homer into the center field bleachers with pinch hitter Bob Tolan, who had walked, on base and the score in the top of the seventh, the Sox struck back with four big runs.

It all started innocently enough with a one-out pinch single by Dalton Jones. Foy followed with a drive to left and Brock, leaping in a desperate effort for the ball, failed to make the catch. The ball rolled to the wall for a double and Jones, running through a stop sign by third base coach Eddie Popowski, scored the tie-breaker.

"I was going for the ball," said Brock, the Cards' big hitting star. Asked if he considered playing it safe and fielding the ball off the wall, Brock said: "We didn't get here by playing safety first ball."

Mike Andrews' single scored Foy with the second run of the inning and Jerry Adair's sacrifice fly knocked in a third score, following a single by Yaz.

Scott got a break when Maxvill broke to his right on his grounder and the ball bounced through the hole he had just opened up, and went for a single.

"I never saw the ball," said Maxvill. "I don't know why I lost it. I lunged to the right and the next thing I knew the ball was bouncing past me."

Smith then lofted a high pop into short left center that fell among Brock, Maxvill and Flood for a hit.

"Nobody called for it," said Flood. "We all thought we had a chance for it but it just fell in."

Yastrzemski came in with the fourth and final run on the hit by Smith.

Schoendienst and the rest of the Cardinals watched in agony, and very likely disbelief, as eight of their pitchers took turns trying to subdue the aroused Red Sox. No team ever has used more than eight pitchers in a Series game.

Hughes began the day and after he was battered for a record-tying four homers—a record-breaking three in one inning—he was followed by Ron Willis, Nelson Briles, Jack Lamabe, Joe Hoerner, Larry Jaster, Ray Washburn and Hal Woodeshick.

"I didn't think they'd hit Hughes like that," Schoendienst said.

"When you're not hitting, you press," said shortstop Petrocelli, who went into the game with only one hit in 14 at-bats. "But

He'll Count Cardinal Pitchers

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox try to climax one of baseball's most incredible turnabouts today when they meet the St. Louis Cardinals in the seventh and deciding game of the World Series.

The Red Sox, a 100-1 shot to win the American League pennant, trailed the Cardinals three games to one, but fought the odds again to win the next two games and force the final game against the once heavily favored National League winners.

The Cardinals missed a second chance to wrap it up Wednesday when the Cardinal pitching staff failed. The Red Sox won 8-4 with a four-run seventh inning that broke a 4-4 tie.

When St. Louis Manager Red Schoendienst tries to sleep this winter, counting sheep won't do any good should the Cardinals lose today. He'll lie awake counting Cardinal pitchers riding from the bullpen to the mound in the sixth game.

The parade of pitchers stopped Wednesday only because the game ended. When it did, the Boston Red Sox had won 8-4 and evened the Series at three games each.

That meant the Series would go to the seventh and deciding game today.

It also meant each team's ace pitcher, St. Louis' Bob Gibson and Boston's Jim Lonborg, finally would face each other after winning two games apiece against other pitchers. In no other Series have a pair of 2-0 Gibson, who won the first and fourth games, was only one of three pitchers left from the Cardinals' 11-man staff at the end of Boston's four-homer, 12-hit onslaught.

Lonborg, the winner in games two and five, left Fenway Park in the seventh inning, sent home early by Manager Dick Williams to avoid the postgame bedlam.

If there was any difference in the pitchers, it was in the amount of rest each had since their last game—Gibson three days and Lonborg two.

"I'd prefer Jim to have three days rest," Williams said, "but I'd rather have him than any other pitcher in baseball, even with two days rest."

"I'm ready," Gibson countered. "I just want to go out and do the job. I'll probably be more rested than Lonborg, but sometimes in the Series it doesn't make any difference. It's that little something extra that wins a World Series."

The Red Sox had a lot extra Wednesday as they slugged their way to the Series-tying victory.

They started with Rico Petrocelli's home run in the second inning, went through three more homers off Dick Hughes—by Carl Yastrzemski, Reggie Smith and Petrocelli again—in the fourth and climaxed in the seventh with a tie-breaking, four-run rally in the seventh that featured some nearly unbelievable plays. It took 29 minutes to play the last of the seventh.

In forcing it to seven games, the Red Sox have confounded the experts just as they did in rocketing from ninth place to first in the American League.

Player Gets After Title at Piccadilly

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Gary Player, the little man with the big golf punch, strode out today in search of his third straight Piccadilly World Match Play championship, quite convinced he'll not only win it but that he has yet to reach the peak of his ability.

The South African, who has won everything there is to win in golf, took on Gay Brewer, U.S. Masters and Alcan champion, in the first of four 36-hole matches in the $44,800 three-day competition at match play.

He said: "I don't know if I will win three in a row, but I'm trying very hard. I've not yet reached my peak in my golfing career. I'm definitely sure of that."

If he performs the three-in-a-row hat-trick in this championship, it will net him first prize of only $14,000.

Player was rated at 9 to 2, along with Billy Casper, but it was Arnold Palmer, the 1964 Piccadilly king, who was the 5 to 2 favorite over the 6,997 yards, par 74 Wentworth West Course.

Player and Brewer teed off first. In other morning rounds, Peter Thomson of Australia met Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina.

Bobcats Go to Fairview on Friday

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports writer
This Friday night the Hope Bobcats travel to Camden to match up forces with the Fairview Cardinals, who are presently ranked eighth in the state in Class AA.

The 1967 Cardinals are relatively inexperienced, but thus far have piled up a 5-1 mark, losing only to Smackover, Fairview always gives the Bobcats a supreme effort, and this year is no exception.

At the ends are Mike Harris (155) and Dicky Bush, a fine 180-pound junior who is a fine pass receiver. From tackle to tackle the Redbirds average 165, and the best blockers are Joe Starnes (180), a guard, and center Gordon Wylie, a 167-pound senior.

Bubba Wrentz (153) is a fine running and passing quarterback, and he likes to throw to his wingback, Steve Johnson. The Cardinals don't mind passing the ball, and will provide another rough test for the Hope defensive secondary.

At the running back slots are seniors Eddie Folse and Sandy Nutt. Folse, a 155-pound speedster, is the breakout threat, and the workhorse will be the 190-pound Nutt, who is a powerful runner.

Normally Fairview will employ the monster-type Arkansas defense, as Hope does. Much rides, though, on the performances of the linebackers, and the Bobcat offensive line must stop Ronnie Davis, the 200-pound nose guard.

It will take another supreme effort to defeat the Fairview club, but the Hope Bobcats have shown that they are able to give 110 percent throughout a rough contest, and another show of determination should bring a victory to Bobcat land.

Remember the junior high game tonight, as the Bobkittens will be journeying to Nashville to play the unbeaten Scrappers at 7:30 p.m.

Razorbacks Turn to Offense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

— The Arkansas Razorbacks turned their attention from defense to offense Wednesday as they prepared for Saturday's clash with the Baylor Bears at Waco, Tex.

The results were less pleasing to Head Coach Frank Broyles than they were Tuesday, when he drilled his players on defending themselves against Baylor's pro-type passing attack.

"Some things showed up that confused our boys," he said. "It's a tough learning process for our players, and it's hard to pick up in one week's practice. We'll have to bear down Saturday."

The Bears are expected to go with a wide tackle-six defense. Quarterback Ronny South turned his ankle on a rollout and missed most of the practice session, but trainers said he would dress out for the game Saturday.

South, replaced last week by sophomore John Eichler as No. 1 quarterback, was expected to do the placekicking and some punting against Baylor.

Broyles said there was some question whether strongside guard Jim Barnes would be able to play Saturday. Barnes pulled a hamstring muscle during the two-a-day fall workouts and reinjured it last week in the game against Texas Christian University. He was back in pads Wednesday after missing practice Monday and Tuesday.

Broyles said Jud Irwin would start in his place if Barnes was unable to play Saturday.

North Little Rock and Little Rock Central get together tonight in a continuation of one of the state's oldest football rivalries.

NLR is ranked fourth and Central fifth in the Associated Press Arkansas High School Football Poll. Both need a victory to remain alive in the Class AAA Central Division race.

The Wildcats have lost to Little Rock Hall and the Tigers to Fort Smith Northside. North Little Rock has had its problems getting the football to speedy Carl Lowe, and it's possible he'll be used at quarterback.

In a deadlock situation where Congress refuses to consider increasing the income tax before President Johnson cuts federal expenses the President pulls a rabbit out of his hat and says if economy is to be the order of the day let it start with the slashing of federal highway aid.

That isn't exactly what the Congress had in mind — or the people. It's merely the glib and unsatisfactory reply of a master politician suddenly called upon to make a financial accounting.

The old-line federal services have been with us for years, and it's unreasonable to suppose that the Government's financial troubles can be laid at the door of such a well-established program as highway aid. What both the Congress and the people suspect is that the many social give-away programs dreamed up by the White House represent the margin of overspending which has brought this once-rich Government to the edge of bankruptcy.

And so President Johnson attempts a diversion—attacking the popular and well-financed highway-aid program with the expectation of sowing discord and reaping confusion in the Congress.

Unfortunately for Mr. Johnson both the Congress and the people are familiar with his tactics — Divide and Rule.

My educated guess is that the White House's latest maneuver will only lighten the already-united front in Congress and compel the President to crack down on the many new federal programs which are the real cause of Government's financial crisis.

In the last few days The Star has published three exceptionally good bird pictures — the mockingbird, Arkansas' state bird, Oct. 7; the robin, Oct. 10; and Oct. 11 — yesterday — the brown thrasher. Yesterday I got curious about the source of the pictures — and discovered they were originals made by Billy Dan Jones, our mechanical superintendent.

What I had forgotten was that some time ago Bill borrowed one of my personal cameras and asked for some tips on bird shooting. He went out there with a Contax 35mm. camera and a 135mm. Zeiss telephoto lens, a tripod, and a pneumatic remote-firing outfit.

The rest of it was due to a world of patience in sighting and stalking birds on week-ends.

Bill found out, as I had before him, that there ought to be an easier way — and there is, but we haven't gotten around to buying the necessary automatic equipment. A high-budget outfit would provide a magazine camera taking a 250-shot load, power equipped, with a set of photolight cells so that the bird coming into the nest would break the beam of light and take its own picture. . . . no camera, no endless waiting. At the end of the day you would simply go home, unload the camera, and see what automation had got you.

Bill took his pictures at the home of his mother, Mrs. Carl Jones, Rosston Highway, and at his home in Pinecrest addition.

Constitution Commission to Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Constitutional Revision Study Commission was to begin a three-day session at the state Capitol today to complete the recommendations that it will submit to Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller and the General Assembly next January.

The 30-member commission already has decided to recommend that the people be permitted to vote on whether the state should hold a constitutional convention, and its report will include specific suggestions as to what constitutional revisions should be considered at such a convention.

Today's session was to be devoted to a re-examination of the recommendations of the commission's Local Government Committee. The commission already has expressed itself on all the committee's proposals except home rule for cities, which was expected to be the major issue today.

Rusk Denies Statement by Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied today as "not true" a statement by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that the United States is more responsible than the Soviet Union for United Nations inaction in the Vietnamese war.

Fulbright told the Senate Wednesday that the United Nations at present "is deterred from action by the opposition of the Soviet Union but even more, I think, by the failure of the principal belligerent, the United States, to encourage it to act."

Rusk, asked at a news conference about the statement, replied: "I would say it is not true."

Repeatedly in the 55-minute news conference, one of the longest he has held, Rusk denounced North Vietnam for what he called a failure to respond to dozens of peace proposals from the United States and other countries.

At times the normally calm Rusk abandoned his usual understatement and burst out in some impassioned reply to a question seeking reaction to a criticism.

At one point Rusk was asked why the United States did not stop the bombing of North Vietnam in a new effort to get Hanoi into peace talks.

Rusk asked whether the proposal was to let the North Vietnamese "live there comfortably" for 40 or 50 years and continued: "Where would be the incentive for peace? . . . Now let's not be children!"

Rusk opened his news conference with a statement which warned North Vietnam against "underestimating the significance of the current debate over Vietnamese policy."

Neither side advocates either instant withdrawal or vast escalation of the war, Rusk said, and the debate is only over details of a middle-ground policy.

NLR Qualifies Five Negroes

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The North Little Rock Civil Service Commission qualified three Negroes Wednesday for employment by the city's fire and police departments.

The commission graded the results of a qualification examination given last week and certified the three to eligibility lists, along with about 40 other prospective firemen and policemen.

Fur Coats Are Coming in and Its the Man Who Is Wearing Them

By SALLYRYAN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Fur coats are in. Van Johnson has an olive-colored one, Peter Dinklage's is black, Skitch Henderson's is dark brown.

"It is a sign of our times," said Ernest Graf of Ben Kahn, Inc., a New York furrier. "With the styles, perfumes, different colored shirts—man is coming out of his shell."

David Loffman, New York representative of the Great Lakes Mink Association, agreed. "In a few years, one man in five will be wearing a fur coat," he predicted.

Abercrombie & Fitch, the sportsmen's store in New York, did a brisk business in shaggy wolf coats ($350) and parkas ($200), raccoon and seal parkas ($225 and $340) last year.

Graf says business has been so good Ben Kahn is thinking of adding a separate men's room, and Georges Kaplan, the Fifth Avenue furrier, plans to open a men's boutique next year.

Graf said he receives letters every day from men all over the country who wanted to buy furs. "In August, we had a traveling salesman from Kansas City come in and say he had wanted one for years because they were so warm and wore so well. He said his wife had discouraged him, saying it was feminine. But he saw our ads last year, and they let him come in. He ordered a $2,000 seal coat for himself."

Graf said men were a little hesitant at first.

"They're just afraid of looking feminine," he said. "As more people who are in the limelight are seen in these furs, that will change. The important thing is to get the right fur. It has to be masculine-looking."

"I can't see mink as a man's coat, mink still is considered the epitome of luxury for a woman, but not for a man. A man should have seal, pony—the rougher looking furs. Nothing too smooth and too silky."

So what is Ben Kahn offering this fall?

Vests of exotic zebra or tiger for $150, zebra and unheated South African seal ski parkas for $500, cocoa-colored Norwegian hair seal walking coats for $750 and street length for $1,000 and midnight blue South African Persian lamb coats for $1,250.

The most expensive are the Alaska seal coats in dark brown or black, for $1,850 to $2,000.

Georges Kaplan has a mink officer's coat, "For $1,400, you can look like a general," said Jacques Kaplan, director of the salon.

"We have a chic Chesterfield in black lamb for men who want to look like Dean Acheson or Anthony Eden," Kaplan said. "It looks very good with an attaché case."

Hal Boyle is ill.

Hope Schools will be dismissed at 2:40 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16, so that all elementary teachers can participate in a seminar conducted by the staff of the Southwest Arkansas Diagnostic and Remedial Center in the use of instruments for the detection of students with learning problems. This is a preliminary step in developing remedial and special education classes for students of Hope School District I-A.

Fewer Out of Jobs, Is Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "fantastic" flock of women seeking jobs boosted the nation's unemployment rate to a two-year high last month but, paradoxically, the Labor Department said this indicated rising job opportunities, not hard times.

While the jobless rate jumped .3 of 1 per cent to 4.1 per cent—the sharpest one-month rise in five years—total employment "remained strong" at 74.6 million, said Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Many women who want extra family income enter the job market when times are good and jobs are easy to get, and drop out again when jobs become scarce, Ross said.

Most such women have a working husband and economic hardship does not appear to be their main reasons for seeking work.

This phenomenon is especially marked in September when children return to school, freeing mothers to take jobs.

But the rise of nearly one million women entering the job market last month was more than double the figure for September 1966. It brought the increase in women seeking jobs to 1.4 million since economic conditions began perkling up last May, Ross said.

"This is a fantastic increase," Ross said.

The jobless rate for Negro men last month dropped to 3.5 per cent, the lowest figure since the government began keeping separate figures for whites and Negroes in 1954. It also marked the first time this percentage went below the over-all national rate.

The over-all Negro jobless rate, however, which also covers women and teenagers, remained at 7.9 per cent. This is more than double the over-all 3.6 per cent figure for white workers.

Postal, Other U.S. Workers Voted Pay Increases in House

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, returned to Ford Motor headquarters today giving rise to reports that a major break in the 36-day-old Ford strike might be near.

After a day of secret meetings elsewhere on what apparently is a new, sweetened contract offer by the company, Reuther entered the Ford headquarters at midmorning.

He went into conference immediately with members of the union's bargaining team.

There was no indication when the company and union bargainers would get together in joint session and both the company and union contingent maintained a news blackout.

Despite the blackout, veteran newsmen said there were indications that some movement had developed in negotiations, and that the tieup of the nation's second largest auto firm might be nearing an end.

The strike, which has idled 160,000 workers at Ford plants in 25 states, started Sept. 6 at expiration of a three-year contract and a two-month period of fruitless negotiations.

May Have to Sell State Securities

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Treasurer Nancy J. Hall said today that over-investment of state monies may cause her to have to sell some of the state securities in the near future.

Mrs. Hall said there was no cause for alarm since the state was in good financial condition but "there exists an over-investment of working capital since the next three months are lean months with reference to revenues."

Mrs. Hall said the money is tied up in securities for 90 days and that during the month of September and the first 10 days of this month the balance of state funds has decreased by $29.17 million.

The state still has a balance of about $60 million, she said, but only about $17 million is available. She said the remainder is invested in U.S. and state obligations, interest-bearing contract bank deposits and bank certificates of deposits for varying lengths of time.

Mrs. Hall said the state Board of Finance may order the sale of government securities in order to release money for the state's day-to-day operations.

"At the present time, the plan to meet warrant payments from demand or checking accounts in all of the banks in Arkansas will continue until such time as it is clearly established that more working capital will be necessary, whereupon a meeting of the Board of Finance can be called to covert investments to working capital," she said.

She said the board directed her today to invest $34.5 million in federal and Arkansas securities, $29.49 million under contract for the current quarter by the director of the Department of Administration and $4.69 million in bank certificates of deposit by retirement groups responsible for trust funds.

Will Increase Land Missiles

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — To priority, the United States soon will increase the number of its land-based intercontinental ballistic missiles, says Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

"We have a ceiling of 1,000 EMBMs and a ceiling of 41 Polaris missile-carrying submarines," Jackson told a news conference here Wednesday.

"One thousand is not enough."

"There is a danger of nuclear war every time an adversary feels he has superiority enough to knock you out first," said Jackson.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, while pressuring President Johnson to cut spending if he wants a tax hike, passed a federal pay raise bill which involves too much spending.

Postal rate increases will help finance some of the raises.

The bill would give postal employees a 6 per cent raise and all other federal workers a 4.5 per cent pay hike. The President had recommended a 4.5 per cent raise for all civilian employees. Under the bill, there would be additional raises in the following two fiscal years.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, urged rejection of the provision for second and third-year increases. But 166 Democrats and 45 Republicans combined against 64 Democrats and 135 Republicans to defeat the GOP-led move to strip this provision, 211 to 199.

The cost of the pay hike is estimated at $1.9 billion for next year and $2.6 billion the following year.

The bill's postal rate increases affect all classes of service and include one-cent

British Jet, 66 Aboard, Crashes

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A British-Cypriot Comet jetliner crashed into the Mediterranean off the southwest coast of Turkey today and all 66 persons aboard are presumed killed, a spokesman for the British Royal Air Force announced.

Operated by British European Airways for Cyprus Airways, the Comet 4 jet was on a flight from London and Athens to Nicosia with 59 passengers and a crew of seven.

The plane left London Wednesday night and stopped briefly before dawn in Athens. It crashed into the sea about an hour later near the Dodecanese island of Kastellorizon, a spokesman for BEA said.

Police on Kastellorizon said the airliner was seen to crash about 35 miles southeast of the island. A spokesman said the island's harbor authorities dispatched a fishing boat to the scene of the crash.

A BEA spokesman in London said most of the passengers were businessmen or vacationers and that some children were aboard. The three-man flying crew was British and the two stewards and two stewardesses were Cypriots. The spokesman said 32 passengers boarded the plane at London and 27 in Athens.

It was the second crash in five months of a passenger plane bound for Cyprus. A chartered Swiss Britannia turbo-prop crashed in April as it was landing on the island in a thunderstorm, killing 126 persons. Most were German and British tourists.

The BEA spokesman said the Comet sent no distress signal before going down today, "it just disappeared." The weather was reported clear at the time. Naval and passenger ships in the area were alerted and the U.S. Air Force base in Athens sent a plane to Kastellorizon to join the search for survivors.

Five RAF planes were conducting the air search. An RAF spokesman said while the pilots spotted wreckage, they were not sure it was from the plane and no survivors were seen.

Just Victim of Small Cars

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A Mormon missionary charged with illegal parking told City Court Judge Riley Graham Wednesday that he was a victim of undersized cars.

Larry Wright said he pulled up closely behind a small foreign car in front of the federal building and parked. Another minicar of the same model parked behind him.

And there they were, he said—three cars in the meter spaces. His car was in the middle, and so was Wright when a meter maid cited him for improper parking.

The charge was dismissed.

Cardinals Capture World Series

Behind the fine hurling of Bob Gibson the St. Louis Cardinals batted Lonsborg out of the box to capture the world series from Boston by a 7-2 score. Thus Gibson won three games in the current series.

Sentenced on Narcotic Charge

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James Holloman, 42, of North Little Rock, was sentenced Wednesday to five years in prison for illegal possession of narcotics.

Holloman pleaded guilty before federal District Judge Gordon E. Young. He was charged with receiving and concealing an unspecified quantity of heroin and with unlawfully purchasing 12 Demerol tablets and 43 tablets containing codeine.

Both offenses occurred Jan. 14. Young permitted Holloman to remain free on a $5,000 bond until Nov. 8, when he will begin serving his term.

Five years is the minimum sentence for possession of narcotics.

War Slows, Bombing Halt Hinted

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — With shifting monsoon weather already slowing the air war against North Vietnam, South Vietnamese Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu disclosed today he will soon propose a one-week pause in the bombing and a face-to-face meeting with President Ho Chi Minh.

American officials disclaimed prior knowledge of the peace initiatives by the head of the military regime who recently was elected president. Thieu had promised some such proposal during the campaign, and a spokesman said he intended to make it formal with an official letter to the North Vietnamese leader shortly after his inauguration Oct. 30.

Thieu's announcement coincided with a general slackening in the ground and air war although there were scattered flareups.

U.S. Command reported continued Red shelling—but on a reduced scale of Marine outposts south of the demilitarized zone and another Red mortar attack on a big Mekong Delta town, the second this week.

The latter shelling, of Chau Doc hard by the Cambodian border, killed four civilians and wounded 25.

Some American and South Vietnamese military casualties also were reported, but the number was not immediately known.

The slackening in the war was reflected in the weekly casualty report from U.S. headquarters which said 102 Americans were killed in action last week, the smallest weekly number in two months, while 890 were wounded and 26 were missing or captured. The week before 150 Americans were killed, 1,758 wounded and three were missing.

Despite the reduction in U.S. casualties, South Vietnamese casualties climbed sharply while the number of enemy reported killed increased 231 over the previous week to 1,331. The South Vietnamese reported 254 of their men killed last week, compared with 114 killed, 461 wounded and five missing the week before.

U.S. headquarters reported that American warplanes flew only 97 missions over North Vietnam Wednesday, well below the daily average of the preceding months. Cloud cover blanketed most of the North, and pilots had little to report in the way of bomb damage.

Many of the strikes, like a raid on the MIG airfield at Hoa Lac, were made before dawn by all-weather Intruder Jets, and damage assessment will not be available until photo planes can scan the targets.

The bad weather is due to the shift in the monsoon winds now taking place.

Legislators to National Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Five Arkansas legislators will be in Washington Friday and Saturday for a national conference on legislative leadership.

The conference, sponsored by the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, will take up the strengths and weaknesses of state legislatures, their influence with Congress, revenue sharing and the impact of federal grants-in-aid on state finances.

Speakers will include Congressional leaders and administration officials.

Arkansas members of the commission are state Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs, president pro tempore of the Senate; state Rep. Jesterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, Speaker of the House; state Rep. Nap B. Murphy of Hamburg, speaker pro tem; state Rep. Marion Crank of Foreman, House Democratic leader; and state Rep. George Novotny Jr. of Fort Smith, House Republican leader.

Nothing Wrong With Dawson's Scoring Touch

By HAL BUCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
There was nothing wrong with Len Dawson's scoring touch that three days of rain couldn't cure.
Dawson, forced into a passing game by steady rains which left the field muddy, hurled five touchdown passes in Kansas City's 41-0 rout of Miami last Sunday and was named the American Football League's Offensive Player of the Week by The Associated Press.
There had been some concern in the Chiefs' camp when Dawson passed for only four TDs in time later the first three games this season. But the combination of rain and a Miami blitz changed all that.

Burke and grandsons, Syvell, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Don Burke and great-grandson Scott Burke. A family dinner will be held to honor the couple and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Don Burke on their second wedding anniversary.

"The field was muddy, bad for the running game," explained Dawson, who completed 13 of 23 for 250 yards including the five TDs. "They were blitzing, which meant man-for-man coverage on our receivers. So I threw."

Fred Arbanas and Otis Taylor each caught two TD passes from Dawson and it was the first Chiefs' TD — a 77-yard scoring pitch to Taylor on an impromptu play — that broke down the Dolphins for the day.

No Place Is Like Home to Hodges

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — For Gil Hodges, there is no place like home, and fortunately for the New York Mets, home is only about 30 minutes from Shea Stadium.

And that, more than any other reason, is why Hodges is manager of the Mets today.

Since 1948, when he began a glory-filled career with the old Brooklyn Dodgers, this gentle giant has made his home on Bedford and Ave. M in Flatbush.

Brooklyn fans cheered him for 11 years before the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles and they welcomed him again in 1962 when he returned as a member of the New York Mets expansion club. He left again in 1963 to manage the Washington Senators, but his heart and home remained in Brooklyn.

So Wednesday, he tucked "the best contract I've ever had in baseball" in his pocket, gave up his Washington job and took on the chore of bringing respectability to the Mets.

Hodges passed over the remaining year on his pact with the Senators and signed a three-year contract at an estimated $60,000 a year to call the shots at Shea Stadium.

"It was quite a decision to make," he told a press conference in Boston before the sixth game of the World Series. "My association with the Washington club was wonderful at all times. Money is important, but it was not the motivating factor. The most important thing in my decision was that I'll be coming home."

Hodges, 43, replaces Wes Westrum, who resigned shortly before the season ended after two years at the Mets' helm.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES

Circuit No. 32

The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses has returned from attending their semi-annual circuit convention, held at Merrill High School, Pine Bluff, Ark.

On Saturday, a baptism ceremony of newly dedicated ones was held and twelve symbolized their dedication by water immersion.

Delegates heard the feature discourse on Sunday afternoon, 'Will God Intervene in Man's Affairs?' by Mr. Willie Anderson, District Supervisor for this area. He said, 'The Bible reports or likens God's intervention in the affairs of men to a hurricane on the horizon of the earth. The front of the hurricane has already passed, leaving the world of mankind in the eye of this hurricane... the calm... most of mankind are eating, drinking, and making merry, jokingly saying that tomorrow may never come. The back of the hurricane is fast approaching, the signs of the prophecies is the scriptures informs us, its passing will mean a complete destruction, the end of the world. However, survival will be possible for those who properly read the signs of the times, draw close to their Creator in complete obedience. On the other side of the hurricane will be an everlasting calm and a paradise that will be the direct result of Jehovah's continual intervention but for the good of all mankind.'

Mrs. Hazel C. Jordan, State Leader, Extension Home Economics, shows Hempstead County Extension Homemaker group how a homemaker will be able to change the color of fabric or dress in the future by simply dipping it into a chemical solution. Chemical crystals will be purchased with the treated dress or fabric. The State Leader is assisted in picture by Susan Lea Adams and Iris Corley illustrating fabric change from green to yellow by dipping in lemon juice. Mrs. Jordan described characteristics of paper dresses as were modeled by Mrs. Homer Poindexter, Mrs. Darrell Dillon and Mrs. Ernest Graham. The State Leader discussed changes today as they affect the homemaker and homemaking. She noted the increased interest and demand for education. She encouraged and commended homemakers in their educational interest and leadership.

Girl Scouting Has Made Difference in Life of 292 in Hope

Girl Scouting has made a big difference in the life of over 292 girls and adults in Hope the past year. Under the leadership of the neighborhood chairman, Mrs. F. D. McElroy, 3 Brownies, 4 Juniors, 2 Cadettes and 12 Seniors have followed a program of fun, learning and adventure. The main focus of the program has been on troop activities.

Brownies have learned how to care and share, discovering what it means to be a "friend-maker", a "ready-helper", or a "discoverer" as they discover the joy of the world around them as well as the joy of being helpful at home.

The Junior Girl Scouts, through badge activities in the home, the arts, and the out-of-doors, have acquired skills and knowledge to help them grow into resourceful citizens.

The Cadettes, Scouts in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades, have been challenged to prepare themselves to meet any emergency, to become gracious hostesses and considerate guests, to give meaningful Community service, and to live according to an ethical code.

The Senior Scouts have concentrated on helping their younger sister Girl Scouts by teaching them campcraft and other skills. Seniors Scouts Jenny Tolleson, Molly Tolleson and Gail Tyne trained twelve Junior patrol leaders in the technique of leadership and the responsibilities of a patrol leader. Seniors have also cooperated in numerous civic projects. Eleven Hope Seniors participated in a Council-wide Conference for over 125 girls that explored how youth can be prepared better to face today's world.

The year's neighborhood activities began last October with the celebration of the birthday of the Founder of Girl Scouting, Juliette Gordon Low, by a gathering of all Girl Scouts and adult leaders at a downtown location. The public was invited to observe the festivities as troops brought contributions to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund which goes toward strengthening friendship and understanding in the world.

During the Christmas Holidays parents and Community friends were invited to an Open House. The girls prepared the refreshments, decorations and served as hostesses. Brownie troop 60, Mrs. Charles F. Jones, leader, sent candy and nuts to a soldier in Viet Nam. Each Brownie wrote him a personal letter with pictures of the troop and home news.

Hope Girl Scouts began the celebration of their 55th birthday March 12, by attending church together and ended the week's celebration with an outdoor play day and cookout at Dykes Springs. With the beginning of warm spring weather, troops began outdoor activities and all troops above the Brownie level experienced the pleasure of sleeping out under the stars.

Each year the most anticipated event is the summer day camp. This summer over 100 Girl Scouts and adults spent five days enjoying nature, practicing campcraft, hiking, playing and learning to live safely and comfortably in the woods. Mrs. McElroy has directed the camp for three years. In addition to assisting with the day camp, members of Senior troop 6, with Mrs. John May, Mrs. Carnett Thompson, and Mrs. F. D. McElroy, went to Camp Albert Pike for a 4-day campout.

Junior Troop 311, Mrs. Gail Sinyard, leader, met throughout the summer. They worked on the Cyclist badge, and climaxed the activities with a bicycle hike to Fair Park. A state patrolman taught them cycling safety and rules of the road, another consultant taught them proper care of bikes, and a merchant treated them to a watermelon feast at the end of the ride.

The adults who work with Girl Scouting are given continuous on-the-job help through the service of professional staff employed by the Conifer Girl Scout Council with headquarters in Texarkana, as well as special training courses scheduled periodically. A Group Leadership Course is scheduled to begin in Hope on October 20, instructed by Mrs. J. J. Scheffelin of the Conifer staff.

The Girl Scout program in Hope, which offers girls a group experience in activities with the purpose of inspiring them with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism, and service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens, is supported by the Hempstead County United Fund, Conifer Girl Scout Council Board Members from Hope are: George Frazier and Mrs. Lynn Harris.

Segregation Standards Are Cited

LITTLE ROCK AP) — Desegregation may have caused educational standards to decline in some school districts, but properly handled, it can help them rise, former Gov. Terry Sanford of North Carolina said at a news conference here Wednesday.

"I don't think doing away with desegregation will necessarily improve our schools," he said. "In fact, where desegregation has been done too rapidly, or not well, we may see a temporary decline in education on the average."

It might be a few years before the educational level of desegregated schools become equal to, or exceed, the former levels of all-white schools, he said.

"If desegregation is done properly, the level can rise," he added.

BORROWER MAKES HER FEEL SHEAP
Dear Helen: My stepsister borrows from me, sometimes without even asking, like with dresses and shoes. Even money from my bank. She borrowed one of my blouses for her friend two weeks ago and I never got it back. I think she gave it to her. She says my hips are bigger than hers and her dresses won't fit me, so I can't get even by borrowing back. But I notice my clothes are pulled at the seams when she gets through with them.
My mother and her dad just got married and I don't want to cause trouble, so I just mention once in a while I'd like to have my blouse back and please repay me my money, and don't use my things without asking.
But, Helen, this is what kills me: she twists it around so I sound chintzy every time I ask for what's mine—and always in front of friends.
What can I do?—POLITE AND NO FIGHTER

Dear P and NF: You evidently drew a stepsister who cashes in on kindness. If you can't get tough, and don't want to involve the parents, then I'd suggest you try an eye for an eye. Each time she borrows one of your outfits, help yourself to one of hers—and if it's tight across the hips, so much the better!
Money? Always be fresh out, and keep your piggy bank hidden!
Be sweet and reasonable about your new "exchange program," but don't back down. You can scarcely lose, for you'll either cool her borrowing ways or you'll have the pick of her wardrobe.—H.

Dear Helen: About that couple with the "morning-person"—"night-person" problem.
My parents just celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. Their 25 years of happily married life on record.
Our Dad springs out of bed at 5:30 a.m. Mom can't even find the floor before 9:30. But every night after dinner, Dad's eyelids droop. He's asleep by 7:00 p.m. Meanwhile Mom tends to the dishes, children and all seven of us—lunches, clothes for next day and general pick-up—with our help.
Dad wakes up around 10. By then the house has gained a semblance of order and most of the

Topics Kept Off Agenda to Be Aired

By DENNIS F. REDMONT
Associated Press Writer
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Some of the controversial topics which Vatican conservatives kept off the agenda of the Roman Catholic synod of bishops will be aired in the church's third World Congress of the Lay Apostolate opening today.

Nearly 2,500 laymen from 103 nations have assembled in Rome for the congress, their first such meeting since the ecumenical council ended two years ago. Many of them are anxious to speak on practical ways to carry out the reforms advocated by the council majority.

Among the subjects to be discussed is the church's policy on birth control, one of the most controversial topics facing Catholics today. Its omission from the agenda of the bishops' synod, now holding its first meeting at the Vatican, is considered evidence of the continuing and frequently successful campaign by Vatican conservatives to put the brake on liberal reforms urged by the majority at the ecumenical council.

Pope Paul, who for months has been pondering whether to modify the church's ban on contraception by pills and mechanical devices, has asked the bishops of the synod to let him have their written opinions on the issue. This is expected to forestall any discussion of birth control policy in the synod.

The week-long congress of laymen, titled "God's People on Man's Journey," will provide a forum for such prominent Catholics as U.S. astronaut James McDivitt and British economist Barbara Ward.

One hundred observer-consultants from Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches will participate and will preside during some of the eight "workshops" in which the delegates will debate in smaller groups.

A major step in ecumenical relations, this is the first time that non-Catholics will speak at an international congress of Catholic laymen. The observers will have no vote, however.

The congress is divided into two parts: "Man Today" and "The Lady in the Renewal of the Church."

Panel discussions by prominent laymen will alternate with smaller workshop groups.
